

Exyte Group is a global leader in design, engineering and construction delivering high-tech facilities, plants and factories. With a history of more than 100 years, we have developed a special expertise in controlled and regulated environments. We serve the most technically demanding clients in growth markets such as semiconductors, life sciences, and data centers across the full spectrum of services from consulting and design to managing turnkey solutions. Operating in more than 20 countries, Exyte Group is uniquely positioned to support clients locally and globally. In 2017, Exyte Group generated sales in excess of 2.4 billion euros with over 4,900 highly experienced and motivated employees.

Process Engineer - Clean Utilities (m/f)

Vienna/ full time

Major responsibilities:

- Support from design till realization, procurement and implementing of biotechnological facilities and handover to the client in projects for Life Science-Industry
- Develop into a SME for clean utility processes & equipment, driving requirements in the design/selection of process equipment
- Analyze and provide resolution of technical issues, perform process analysis for design reviews and optimization
- Ensure incorporation of all cGMP, client specific quality requirements and Exyte policies and standards
- Developing process strategies and process flows (P&IDs and functional logics)
- Scheduling and coordinating work to tight deadlines and within financial budgets
- Liaising with installation/project engineers and specialists
- Provide technical documentation

Your profile:

- Completed technical education in the area of Chemical or Mechanical Engineering
- At least 3 years of relevant work experience as a Process Engineer in the biotechnological and pharmaceutical industry particularly on Clean Utilities Generation and Distribution Systems; PW, WFI, Pure Steam, Process Gases and CIP/SIP
- Construction experience and knowledge of engineering codes and standards as well as current regulatory standards & guidelines
- Good teamwork and communication skills, flexibility and ability to work independently
- Very good command of spoken and written English and German
- Knowledge about Lean or Six Sigma as well as good computer skills
- Mobility and willingness to project-oriented assignments

Our offer:

At Exyte you are able to broaden your horizon: flexible working time, multicultural team, attractive working conditions and benefits in a high professional, international and inspirational high-tech environment. For this position we offer a gross salary of min. EUR 47.000. Depending on your qualification and experience a competitive and performance-related package will be paid.

Contact:

For immediate consideration, please apply via mail: bewerbung.at@exyte.net